Impact:

As a result of the wider range of activities offered to all year groups, there has been an increase in the numbers of children participating in the activities.

Children have enjoyed the extra activities throughout the year and have engaged in activities they would not normally have access to, especially from secondary school colleagues.

The school has improved its success in competitive team and individual sports events.

Positive male role models have led the activities. It is good for our children to have the opportunity to be taught by male teachers to get them ready for secondary school.
